Dr. Robertson:

I really do not understand. I never got your response on Dr. Lemaire's review sheet. When will I receive this. As soon as I get your feedback on Dr. Lemaire's review sheet as well as feedback from Dr. Rouhi we will be ready for others to view the review sheets.

I am very confused as to what is going on (please see email below based on outcome of your meeting with Dr. Hastings). Based our discussions and email below you were going to sit down with each examiner with the review sheets I prepared so that I am not where I am today once again at the end of April 2012. Is this the case, why hasn't this happen. I suggest that a meeting takes place immediately between yourself and all examiner's. I will be happy to attend.

Please let me understand the process. As stressed I need your help and support now more than before.

Finally, when can I expect your feedback on the thesis.

Many thanks, Nicholas

The meeting with Dr. Hastings was fairly brief. Basically, he suggested that I talk with each examiner and if possible have a list from you of the changes you have made. I can start with Dr. Lemaire but you need to remove such statements as: "Appreciable comment.", "Fair comment but untimely comment.", "Unjustified and unfair comment."

It is not your role to judge an examiner's comments. Just state what you plan to do or not do. Most of what you have done is appropriate.

Dr. Robertson:

Hope all is well at your end. As you may imagine my existing situation is extremely stressful and certainly most unexpected especially given your reassurance that it would be all downhill after my thesis submission. I am seeking answers and your guidance. Despite our conversation and that with Dr. Seguin there are still many things that are unclear. This is what was motivating me to meet with Dr. Sveistrup prior to meeting with the dean of graduate studies. I was happy to hear you were meeting with Dean Hastings. As per email below please let me know what was discussed and direction for moving forward. Further, I still would like to know if you recommend me speaking with the examiners? As you are aware I am working against a deadline that is fast approaching.

Finally do let me know when I can expect your feedback on comments provided in response to feedback from Dr. Lemaire.

Look forward to hearing from you Dr. Robertson.

Many thanks and best regards,

Nicholas
